

Lack of effective allergen control is currently a major source of product recalls in the UK which can have significant cost and brand reputation implications.

Allergen Risk Assessment

FoodChain Europe can provide the essential support to help you confidently manage your allergen risks.

The new BRC Global Food Standard places more emphasis on allergen risk assessment and control. Risk management is about eliminating or reducing the risk of unintentional presence of allergens including cross-contamination and wrong labelling.

- Are you aware of all the allergen risks in your business?
- Do you know where to start with an allergen risk assessment?
